HEATH VILLAGE RESIDENT DONATES TOOLS TO WARREN COUNTY TECHNICAL SCHOOL

Washington Twp, NJ – Heath Village resident Dave Walter recently donated automotive mechanical tools to the Warren County Technical School located in Washington, NJ. He generously shared his tool kit filled with the tools he used for decades to maintain his and his family’s cars. He kept all the pieces in pristine condition. A resident member of our woodworking shop facilitated the connection between Heath Village and Warren Tech. Mr. Walter was excited to have the opportunity to hand the tools directly to Warren Tech automotive instructors when they visited the woodshop on October 10th. Like Mr. Walter, Heath Village is pleased to know his tools will continue to be put to good use by the students at Warren Tech.
